DEXTER HOME FROM CHICAGO

ENTHUSIASTIC FLORIDA BOOSTER SAYS WINDY CITY PEOPLE ARE MORE THAN EVER INTERESTED IN FLORIDA AND MANY ARE MAKING REAL ESTATE INVESTMENTS.

Chas. A. Dexter, of Dexland, who was in Chicago for three weeks, has returned home and he spent yesterday in Pensacola. In conversation with a Journal representative, Mr. Dexter said that he found Chicago people more interested than ever in Florida and that many of them are investing heavily in Florida real estate.

"A couple of Chicago newspaper men were in my room at the LaSalle," said Mr. Dexter, "when one of them noticed a copy of the Sunday Journal which I had received that day. He was so struck with the appearance of the paper that he wanted to know if Pensacola didn't have a hundred thousand population. I told him that we had 30,000 or more, and he was at a complete loss to understand how a paper like The Journal was possible in a city of that size."

Mr. Dexter says that a large number of Chicago people are going to come down here for the Interstate Fair, and that many of them ought to be induced to make investments here.

TAFT MUST FIND ANOTHER HOME

OWNER WILL NOT RENEW LEASE ON HIS PRESENT SUMMER HOME AT BEVERLY, EVEN FOR THE PRESIDENT.

By Associated Press.
Beverly, Oct. 4.—President Taft is now hunting another summer home as the recent rumors to the effect that he would have to move are confirmed. Taft desires to remain during the remainder of his term as president, but Mrs. Robert Evans, owner, does not care to renew the lease, as she intends tearing the house down and creating an Italian warden on the site.

The Tafts have not yet found an available cottage. However, Beverly will continue to be the summer capital.

The president intends making a flying visit to Panama next month to take a look at the canal. The recent slide is taken by Taft as a good argument against the sea level type, which would have required an eighty foot deeper cut than the present one at Culebra.

He received two callers today, but hereafter he will devote little time to politics, leaving the fight to the campaign managers. He hopes to see one of the world's championship baseball games at Philadelphia.

Clues to the identity of the murderer are being kept secret by the authorities of the district. Even the name of the man who had been planned has not been announced.

In view of this warning, the discovery of Perkins' corpse delayed his trip across the mountains, finding the bullet-riddled body when he reached the place where he had been led to expect an ambush.

SPORTSMEN NOW LOOKING TO FLORIDA

THE LONG NEGLECTED HUNTING GROUNDS COME INTO PROMINENCE WITH NORTHERNERS—OKEFENOKE SWAMP IDEAL—HUNTING CAMPS WILL BE ESTABLISHED.

While the possibilities for the enjoyment of an ideal outing and for the chance of having the best of fishing and hunting have been known to be had in the Okefenokee swamp, still there have been comparatively few who have made use of this knowledge and have entered into the plan of spending a season there and carried it out to its fullest extent, says the Jacksonville Times-Union.

The time is now fast approaching when this area of hundreds of square miles will be headed for the Okefenokee sportsmen from all sections of this broad country and what has been a wilderness in the heart of civilization will become reopened as the Southern home of the true sportsman. The invading army of sportsmen is being called together and organized. There is room it is true for many but the first comers are going to have their pick and the choice of the most desirable sites for the location of fishing and hunting camps.

As the winter season draws near and the man of wealth and leisure as well as the man of business affairs, looks forward to his outing, when winter winds blow and the snow is deep, then it will be that the army of invasion will be headed for the Okefenokee swamp region and the sport in getting after the game and the fish, which are plentiful there, will delight the heart of many sportsmen and rod reel and gun will come into play and action and expectations will be more than fulfilled.

The Florida Homelands Company, which operates the Seaboard-St. Marys colony, has been active during the summer months in furnishing accurate data relative to actual conditions in the Okefenokee region and at the headquarters in Minneapolis this company has succeeded with ease to interest a number of prominent men in locating in that section during the winter months. The plans include the establishment there of a number of hunting camps which will be of a permanent character as the areas are large which each individual club will purchase and maintain. Handsome and most comfortable hunting lodges will be built for the accommodation of the club members and for the entertainment of their invited guests.

Coming to Florida.
Among those who have already signified their intention of coming and of forming the beginning of this colony of sportsmen are prominent members of such clubs as the Minneapolis club, the Commercial club, the Long Meadow Gun club, and the Interlachen Country club.

Capt. Henry Jackson of Atlanta, who is perhaps best known as the real discoverer of the Okefenokee country, says that there is no healthier or more attractive spot in the world than this property and that all through the section there is to be had fishing and hunting that has never had a parallel. There is no question as to the healthfulness of the region which abounds with animal life and which is free from all possible objections.

The Okefenokee swamp, so-called, is an expanse of partially flooded land lying in southeastern Georgia, just north of the Florida line, and about forty miles northwest of Jacksonville. It has an area of approximately 700 square miles, is 115 feet above sea level and empties its waters into the Atlantic ocean, largely through the St. Marys river. It is the last big hunting reserve in the far Southeast and it is but twenty miles by water from the Seaboard-St. Marys colony of the Florida Homelands Company, in Baker county.

Although its existence has been known to white men ever since the eighteenth century, it has been only within the past few years that its possibilities as a hunting and fishing ground have been recognized by aggressive sportsmen.

The vicinity of Okefenokee is remarkably free from climatic or endemic diseases. Malaria, which in the popular mind is commonly associated with swamps of all kinds, seem to be chiefly confined to alluvial districts and is therefore not to be expected around Okefenokee, which is strictly a non-alluvial swamp. As many as 200 men were sometimes employed in the swamp by the Suwannee Canal Company, and it is said that there was never a case of malaria among them or their families. No one is known to have ever died in the Okefenokee from illness, snake bites, starvation, drowning, or any other cause. On the contrary, instances are recorded of men suffering from rheumatism who have gone in there to work and come out in a few days greatly relieved if not cured.

The chief drawback, though not a disadvantage to life in this swamp, is the drinking water. It is, of course, rather warm in summer, and always full of fine particles of peat, just as in Northern cedar swamps, but nevertheless, it is not unwholesome.

The flat pine barrens around the swamp have many attractions as a residential section. The universal surface of sand in this region makes it the cleanest country imaginable, especially in wet weather and also incidentally obviates the necessity of shoeing horses.

The color of the water in the swamp and in all the streams in the vicinity shows it to be entirely free from lime as well as from mud.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 4.—The case of Captain W. C. Fincke of the swamp, of the charge of embezzling $5,000 in government funds, was continued by United States Commissioner Stephenson today until October 30. Captain Fincke says though allowed ten days in which to settle his accounts, he was not given ten minutes. He declared he was unable to do so in full if only given a reasonable time.

BANKERS IN SESSION.
Los Angeles, Oct. 4.—Delegates to the thirty-sixth annual convention of the American Bankers' Association met in the auditorium this morning as a committee of the whole to receive the reports of the various committees. The convention was called to order at 10 o'clock by President Lewis E. Pison. Registration at the headquarters of the credentials committee showed the arrival of more than 2,200 delegates. Officials of the association say they expect at least 2,500 by tonight.
